Costs:

The Edelweiss Bergpreis (=hill climb) lives, as have been the original hill climb races of the 60s and 70s , from the diversity of its participating vehicles. This automatically results in a variety of participants with different financial capabilities.

Despite the many volunteers, all accrued costs cannot be covered by entry and sponsorship fees alone. And the set target of the Edelweiss-Bergpreis is not only to offer a great experience for riders and visitors alike, but also support the welfare institution for mentally disabled in Berchtesgaden, Lebenshilfe Berchtesgaden. Therefore, we require from the participants a reasonable entry fee. But some participants with their often great and fascinating vehicles are not in a position to pay the full registration fee. That's why we kindly ask as a gesture of solidarity for the payment of a higher entry fee from better-off participants and we would like to thank you for this in advance!

Entry fee per team:

€ 1.000,-- to € 1.450,-- / without co-driver € 700,-- to € 1.150,--
